

Things have changed a lot since we first were friends. The time or "group" had I'll never forget. I wish things hadn't changed so much but nothing seems to last forever. Remember all those nights on the swings, the times we played football, the trips for ice cream, the hours watching T.V. at Cristina's, and summer days spent at the pool. I really kinda of miss it all now that it's gone and really even more knowing
"our time" is limited.
You really are a neat person, Scott and I think a lot of you. You have a lot to offer. Thanks for the friendship.
I never forget you or the memories. Love and friendship always hiz

Well, you're a senior now! A year

whose a lot of fun to be around. Our friend-

more. Good luck in

you do. Love

With this song . . .

"We salute thee Randolph High." The first few words of our alma mater hold significant meaning to us as we think about our days of growing and learning at Randolph. We salute our school, not with a common gesture, but with a feeling of respect, recognition, and honor that this school has earned through the pride we take in all areas of school life.

The song we sing faithfully at all pep rallies is very familiar to us, but few of us stop to think about what the words mean or where they came from. In 1963, Miss Sandra Fisher, choir teacher and senior class sponsor, was inspired by the enthusiasm of the students to compose the lyrics of our school song to fit the melody of a folk song named "Auralee." "Love Me Tender," an old Elvis Presley favorite, also carries the same tune. So it was, the original song, written by Miss Fisher, was adopted as Randolph High's own alma mater.

In the 1983 Talon, we wish to salute Randolph High School through our school song. Even though the melody is "borrowed," the words are ours alone.

1. Happiness lingers on the face of Millie Lopez, seventh grader, who remembers the joys of hugging her teddy bear.

2. Danny Lengyel, sophomore, wandering amidst the many other students on the first day of the school year, is welcomed by the banner constructed by Student Council.

3. Eighth graders show their spirit for the Ro-Hawks by shouting the battle cry at a pep rally.

And to thee our loyalty . . .

"We'll be proud of you." The song continues. The Ro-Hawks take pride in their accomplishments in scholarship and sports. Randolph Independent School District had the highest student achievement for Bexar County according to results gathered from state-required tests which were administered last year. And the varsity football team reached for and won the district title despite multiple injuries suffered by some of our top players.

Our record of having the least discipline and vandalism problems in the area was evidence of our care and respect for the institution and the people. Even though the future of Randolph high was uncertain due to cuts in federal funding, our loyalty kept on ringing as our school song vividly declares.

The pride unceasingly displayed itself in the achievements of RHS students as we developed our minds and bodies through Randolph High School.

Homecoming 1982 was 'Evening in Paradise'

Students spent "An Evening in Paradise" at the Homecoming dance on the night of Oct 1, 1982. After the Ro-Hawks' win over the Antonian Apaches, it was only appropriate to celebrate the occasion. At the pre-game ceremony the Homecoming court, consisting of seniors Jill Hall, Andrea Norsworthy, Karen Bailey and Kelly Day, were escorted onto the field and Kay Kinsey was crowned queen. Each girl received roses from the football captains. "Orion" provided the music at the dance and honored the queen and her court by playing "Lady" by Kenny Rogers. Thanks to the Student Council, who sponsored the event, the evening was one to remember.

3. "Hey, this is my old lady!" exclaims Craig Divich during one of the pep rally skits.

Assemblies are unifying

Although school enrollment has dropped noticeably, school spirit has managed to remain. The gymnasium was not quite as full this year on pep rally afternoons, but student spirit was apparent. While the varsity football team continued to win, the students showed tremendous support. Along with the rallies, the assemblies that were held were successes. The Randolph Rec Center brought over a display of the martial arts for a pleased crowd. The Christmas auction and Christmas concert provided a welcome break from classes before the holidays. General Charles Duke, former astronaut, spoke to the high school about what it is like on the moon! Throughout the rallies and assemblies, enthusiasm shined through from both student body and faculty. Though our numbers were small this year, our spirit was great!

Everyone enjoys the action!

Spirit week was a huge success. The majority of the student body participated daily in dressing in the style of the day. Tuesday, October 5, opened up the week as "Disco Day." Wednesday was the "Official Nerd Day." Students were seen in polyester pantsuits, cat-eye glasses, high-water pants, patent-leather sandals and one guy was carrying a Weekly Reader bookbag! Thursday came with anticipation. "Punk Day" was here and the turnout was outstanding! The halls were packed with punkers dressed in wild combinations of mini-skirts, spandex pants, tights, plastic garbage bags, new wave t-shirts, colored and glittered hair sprays and weird sunglasses. Friday was "Blue and Silver Day" and the end of spirit week. Although the week seemed to fly by too quickly, it was one full of lasting memories.

First annual Gong Show is smash success

A new tradition was started this year at Randolph with the first annual Gong Show. The Junior Class pulled together and organized the whole show. It was a lot of fun and everyone got involved. A singing sixties act called the "Boofonts" captured first place. Anna Hernandez, Diana Homitsky and Andrea Kinser made up this dazzling singing group that won the $10 first prize. "The Best of RHS Wrestling" featuring Shawn Hickenbottom, Kenny Kent and Greg Ulmer kept the crowd laughing with their act while taking second place. Third place went to the cheerleaders' version of "Lovergirl." First place on the junior high level went to Anne Marie Boucher and Lovdy Hamm for their act "Commercial Madness." The show was a great success and we hope the tradition keeps on. You can never know what talent might shine through!

Holiday spirits break loose

The holidays came to life with the Christmas Auction sponsored by the Student Council. Over $300 went to the Brighton School for Down's Syndrome and the Inner-City Development Project, a discount toy program for the less fortunate. The halls of RHS were "spruced up" by the annual door decoration contest, won by Mr. Sierra's junior advisory, and the Student Council's tree trimming and hall decking party. Two presentations of "Santa Sees A Shrink" were presented by the drama class for the junior high and the public. To send everyone home with holiday spirits, the band and choir joined together for a Christmas program.

Performers present plays

The RHS drama department had a great year of plays, beginning with their three-act money-raising play in October. This play, titled "Curtain Call for Clifford," was about a young man named Clifford, played by Gilbert Gutierrez. He can't seem to win the love of any girl in his school until Donna, played by Lisa Utley, falls for him. The next play was the Christmas play starring Pat O'Connor as Santa, who can't decide to give out presents this year because the children aren't quite satisfied. He sees a psychiatrist, and things turn out fine. Their third play, called "This Way to Heaven," was about an angel who comes down to earth. His mission is to take a certain grandmother, who is a good cook, up to the angels. This play was performed for the district one-act play contest at Bandera. Marty Waddy was named to the all-star cast and Merrie Rembert got honorable mention. "It's been a lot of fun working together. It's been a great year," said Lisa Utley.

Sadie Hawkins strikes gold

"Strike it rich at Sadie Hawkins!" At least that is what the seniors were exclaiming at this year's Sadie Hawkins dance. The seniors managed to raise over $600 this year selling tickets and refreshments, which is the best any Sadie Hawkins dance has ever done in Randolph history. That's quite an accomplishment! Almost 250 Ro-Hawks danced the night away and some even managed to sneak over to "Marrying Sam" to tie the knot, just for 24 hours of course. This year's reigning Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae were juniors Kirby Dehnel and Cheryl Negley, who raised around $30 for their class. The dance floor was alive and jumping all night long and everyone had an all around knee-slapping time!

Leisure time spent in various ways

Every possible minute free from school is usually devoted toward having a good time. It is very common for a huge group of friends to get together and hit the midnight movies, parties or a favorite restaurant. A lot of kids who don't have their weekends free because of their hours at work make up for the lost time by visiting the San Antonio Zoo, the Sunken Gardens, flea markets, concerts or KISS-sponsored events such as KISS World or the M*A*S*H bash. To beat the hot weather, the cars are packed and on their way to Canyon Lake, Stinky Falls, River Road or a super slide. Even if there is no particular place to go, it is always fun to break out the hackey sacs or a frisbee.

“Just You and I”

Undaunted by humidity and heat, 52 senior and junior couples, 104 students in all, showed up for the 1983 Prom at North Cliffe country club April 30. “Just you and I,” this year’s theme, set the mood for a wonderful evening. Orion provided the music that kept everyone dancing all night. The juniors worked hard all year while everyone waited with much anticipation as the evening neared. The junior officers did a tremendous job and were well paid off by the evening’s outcome.

'A new beginning' dawns

The graduates of 1983 lined up outside the gymnasium anxiously awaiting the ceremony that would conclude twelve long years of hard work on the night of May 27, 1983. It was also a night of a new beginning for the 62 members of the class of '83. While parents, friends and faculty watched, the students triumphantly marched across the stage to receive their diplomas—symbols of each individual's accomplishments. Memories were launched into dreams of the future for the graduates and, consequently, there was hardly a dry eye among them. Each carried with him the foundation established in school to move on in life's pursuits. "It's really happening," spoke so many of the cap-and-gown-clad graduates, for the first time realizing that they had finally reached a major goal. The ceremony will be remembered always but it was the achievement that will show itself in all their upcoming endeavors.

Kelly and Kenny chosen to represent RHS

Mr. and Miss RHS were announced at the prom. Taking these titles were Kenny Kent and Kelly Day. Kenny played varsity football for two years and was chosen as all-district center his senior year. He was also the cheerleader sweetheart. Kenny was class treasurer both his junior and senior year and class favorite when he was a junior. He was a member of the International Club and track team for two years. Although Kelly was new at RHS, she was a captain of the varsity basketball team and played varsity volleyball and tennis. She was on the Homecoming Court and was selected as prom queen. These students are true examples of Ro-Hawks and represent our school well

Gifted and talented students discover new horizons

The purpose of the Gifted and Talented program is to recognize qualified students who are declared academically gifted or talented in a certain field and give them an opportunity to work up to their potential. This year Room 3 was set up as the G & T classroom. It was furnished with rugs, chairs, pictures, plants, and even an aquarium to give it a comfortable and home-like atmosphere. The students were allowed to go there to work on projects or use the computers when they were not busy in their other classes. The 23 students, under the supervision of sponsors Mrs. Cathy Beicker, Mr. Perry Settemeyer and Mr. Art Sierra, went on many field trips throughout the year. Besides visiting three museums, they also went on an overnight trip to Port Aransas. "We had a great time this year," stated Mr. Sierra. "It was a great learning adventure." While they were in school, the students worked on individual projects. Many made up their own programs on the computers. Cathy Marston, freshman, won third place in an essay contest sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. She received ten dollars and a certificate. The essay topic was "Brotherhood/sisterhood begins with respect for people." Other students worked on individual projects which they displayed at a mini-fair at the end of the year.

Students strive for first in academic, literary contests

Many students took part in UIL academic and literary competition this year. They put in a lot of time and effort getting ready for the district meet, which was held April 8 at Smithson Valley. All the work and participation in practice meets had good results in district and nine students went on to regional competition. For junior high, Alex Lagares placed first and Ron Farace second in informative speaking and Lovdy Hamm placed fifth in prose interpretation. Tim Loser placed first, Sonja Yarbrough, second and Stephanie Scott, fourth in number sense and Pat Sousa placed sixth in junior high spelling. In the high school events Dory Lopez placed sixth in poetry interpretation; Peter Christo placed first, Eric McKeever, second and Lance Waddy, fourth in informative speaking; and Mike Wingfield placed first and Marty Waddy, fifth in persuasive speaking. Marty Waddy made the all star cast and Merrie Rembert received honorable mention for the one act play. Ready writer Cathy Marston placed third. Kris Johnson placed first and Cindy Spitler, second in shorthand and Michelle Maddy placed first, Greg Peacock, second and Chuck Dawson, fifth in typing. In the journalism meet held here at Randolph April 6 Shari Lemme placed first, Amy Sailer, third and Michelle Maddy, fifth in newswriting. Amy Sailer placed third and Karen Bailey, fifth in feature writing; and in headline writing Shari Lemme placed fourth. "UIL is a good opportunity for a student to find out in what field they excel," stated Rally Lopez, who competed in both science and journalism.

UIL contestants receive recognition

For the first time, UIL academic and literary contestants received recognition for their efforts. A picnic was held at Eberle Park to honor all those who competed at the district level. District contestants were also presented with certificates at a spring meeting of the PTO. Students who advanced to the regional level of competition were awarded letter jackets and patches. These benefits were brought about through the recommendations of a faculty committee which was organized to promote recognition for UIL involvement. In addition, UIL received more complete coverage in the school newspaper and yearbook.

The school board of Randolph Field ISD is responsible for the decisions and policies made here at school. The president of the board is Mr. John Brown, who has been serving since Nov. 16, 1981. Vice president is Mrs. Marilee McLaughlin, who replaced Mrs. Maria Weaver on February 14, 1983. Mrs. Jo Lynn DeLonga, secretary, has been serving since March, 1981. Superintendent Claude A. Hearn has been at Randolph since its beginning in 1961. This year he has had the difficult job of making sure the school gets enough federal funds to operate. Besides being a member of the board, each of these people have their own jobs and duties away from school. Mr. Brown is Chief of Morale, Welfare and Recreation on RAFB; Mrs. McLaughlin is a busy house wife; and Mrs. DeLonga is secretary to the wing commander. Mrs. Carol Yarbrough is the curriculum director. She is in charge of curriculum instruction for the school district for grades K-12, as well as being responsible for school accreditation, district testing and teacher inservice training. Mrs. Lou Mangold is the gifted and talented program director. Mrs. Jean Harmon is the educational diagnostician for RHS. She does individual testing for those who are having academic difficulties.

High school staff keeps things running

Randolph could not function without our principal, Mr. Earl Hall. He takes a real interest in seeing that our school is run efficiently. He takes care of scheduling classes, overseeing the teachers and disciplining students, and is as fair as possible. He could not do his job without the help of school secretary Miss Peggy Younger and clerks Mrs. Dottie Mahler and Mrs. Judy Hammons, who are always kept busy in the office with students who require admission slips or lunch tickets. Mrs. Lynette Walker, counselor, helps the students with any personal problems they might have or any questions about college or credits. Mrs. Sara Wiechman and Mrs. Jeanne Crossman take care of our library, making sure the books are kept in order, and helping the students find whatever they need. Mr. Kenneth Wilhoit is kept very busy with film projectors, video tapes and other audio-visual aids, and with setting up microphones and cameras for assemblies, sports events or productions of any kind. These staff members are essential in keeping our school running smoothly.

There is a group of "behind the scenes" people here at school who work extremely hard but get little recognition or praise. They have a variety of jobs, but all of them are necessary. Such jobs include Miss Laura Yantis, controller, who handles finances and paychecks and Mrs. Terry Walpole, who does office chores such as typing and filing for the curriculum director. Some other very important staff members are computer operator Miss Mary Davis, special ed aide Mrs. Linda Rusnak and VAC teacher Mrs. Rue Tillery. ## Staff works miracles with food and fix-up

The custodial and cafeteria staffs are a major part of our school. Our custodians and maintenance workers keep the classrooms and hallways clean and keep everything in working order. They also clean the cafeteria and gymnasium before and after school to make it look a lot better for students and teachers. The cafeteria staff has the job of preparing nutritional meals for us every day and making sure they are tasty and appetizing. These wonderful ladies care about what students like to eat and keep the kitchen and cafeteria tidy. The cafeteria aides handle the money and make sure the lunch hours run smoothly.

The science department offers a variety of classes in which students study the chemical and biological makeup of plants, animals and minerals. Junior high life science classes examine rocks and learn to use the microscope. Most freshmen take physical science, in which they learn about minerals, basic chemicals, and gravity and motion. The physiology of animals and humans is studied in biology. Those who are interested in science-related careers or who wish to prepare for college take chemistry and physics.

Social studies students examine the past

Through books, notes, lectures, notes, worksheets, notes and more notes, Randolph students trace the paths of famous men and countries through the passages of time. Some students start with Texas history. They learn of men and events that shaped and formed our state of Texas. American history students learn of the famous battles and eras in the history of the United States. World history starts with the rise of prehistoric man, the start of all civilizations and examines new civilizations from rise to fall, from Egyptian pharaohs to the super-powers of today. Government prepares students for being responsible voters and teaches them about our political system.

Students benefit from elective courses

Electives make up a good portion of Randolph classes. Students enjoy going to classes of their choice instead of the usual required courses. Those who know what they want to do after high school can take courses related to that. Other students just take electives that they think would be fun. Home economics teaches students the necessities of cooking, sewing, interior decorating, child care and money management. Band students not only improved their musical skills but also learn how to march at half-time shows during football season. They also enjoy going to contests. Shorthand, recordkeeping and typing give students practical experience. These skills prepare students for work as secretaries and clerks, as well as preparing them for college.

Students keep fit with health and P.E.

Students in physical education don't only go to P.E. to play sports; they also learn the fundamentals of staying physically fit. They learn the importance of having a physically fit body and a mentally sound mind. Staying healthy is easier for some people than others. Feelings, attitudes and behavior are tremendously important in keeping healthy. However, that doesn't mean to say that you must lead a timid, over-careful life. Health requires mainly that people become sensitive to their mental and physical needs, and treat themselves well.

Communications is goal of language arts

The language arts department holds the responsibility of teaching students how to communicate through proper English language. From junior high reading and spelling through the maze of grammar and the mysteries of poetry to American and English literature, all the aspects of writing and reading are covered. Journalism students learn to communicate effectively through the print media as they produce the school publications, Talon and Bird's Eye View. # Math classes prepare students for future

In the math department students are taught not only the fundamentals of math, but also trigonometry, geometry and algebra. The teachers of this department help to prepare us by teaching us how those oh-so-complicated equations would help us in the not-so-far-away future of being on our own. As our society depends more and more on computers, engineering and high finance, the necessity of an adequate background in mathematics becomes more evident.

With the creation of the many organizations at Randolph High, students are able to learn extracurricular subjects. Besides being exposed to the nature of the club, students also meet new people and learn new ideas as well as learning to be responsible leaders. Through these organizations, the academics are expanded to offer a wider range of learning experiences. Thus, the "musicians" not only learn the song but also the fundamentals of directing the music.

Student Council has active year

The Student Council is an effective educational instrument if it is understood and utilized. In its beginning, the idea might have been to form a "mock government," but the functioning council has evolved into a unique agency far beyond basic concepts of civics. The idea requires individual commitments and involvement. It is the living central arena of the student world. The Student Council works cooperatively to promote citizenship, scholarship, leadership, public relations and cultural values. Under the sponsorship of Miss Sally Lewis, the 20 representatives and five officers in council try to keep active. Some of the projects of this year were the Homecoming dance, the blood drive, the drug abuse and career games assemblies, commander for a day, sixth grade orientation and the Mr. & Miss Irresistible contest. The council performed other services to benefit the faculty and the community. Through the secret pal projects, teachers often received cards or goodies in appreciation for their efforts. The La Chalet retirement complex received visits and letters from the council as well. "Well, through workshops, I've learned how to relate to people and utilize my ideas more effectively," said Michelle Smart, freshman representative.

Goals and achievements inspire NHS members

The smiling faces in the audience have a right to be proud. Their sons and daughters are being inducted into the most honored group in the school. The National Honor Society traditionally stages a ceremony to induct new members who have met the standards that are required to be in NHS. These qualities include character, scholarship, service and leadership. NHS students have made extraordinary efforts in these areas and receive recognition for it by being accepted into NHS. Membership in this society is one of the ultimate achievements any student can reach in high school

FTA gives teachers a helping hand

The Future Teachers of America is a well-organized club which has done many things to make small occasions something special. FTA gave the girls' varsity basketball team a little extra treat for their outstanding season by presenting them with a treat box filled with cakes, cookies, candy, coke and other goodies. The faculty received Valentine cards from the FTA with lollipops attached to them. Even with all these extra activities, the FTA members still managed to grade papers for teachers at least six hours every six weeks. ## Choir members have successful year

Both the junior high and high school choirs have been in many contests this year. The members had a good year with sponsor Miss Ann Foster. The junior high choir competed for places in the Texas Music Educators Association All-Region Choir on Oct. 16. Four Randolph students were selected: Camille Conques, Danielle Conques, Bonnie Marston and Michelle Valdez. For the Fall Concert on Oct. 25, both choirs performed a wide range of musical styles. The four All-Region choir members participated in the Region Clinic and Concert at Trinity Baptist Church on Nov. 2. The high school choir members went Christmas carolling on base Dec. 13. Both the junior and senior choirs performed at the annual pre-vacation Christmas assembly to a restless but appreciative crowd of students and parents on Dec. 17. High school choralist Andrea Kinser explained, "We've had a pretty busy year and we all worked very hard. I think everyone enjoyed it; I sure did! Even though this year's 'A' choir is brand new from last year's, Miss Foster has done a super job, and she deserves a lot of credit." Andrea competed in the State Solo Contest in June. The choirs participated in the Trinity Invitational Choral Festival, joining with a dozen other choirs from area junior and senior high schools. The singers rehearsed under the direction of Mr. John Casey and Dr. Bruce Chamberlain. Both choral directors were from Trinity University. The choirs worked hard with their directors, and with help from the Alamo Heights Sinfonietta, an award-winning string orchestra and the Trinity University Choir, presented a concert that was the finest in the history of the festival.

International Club members sample foreign cultures

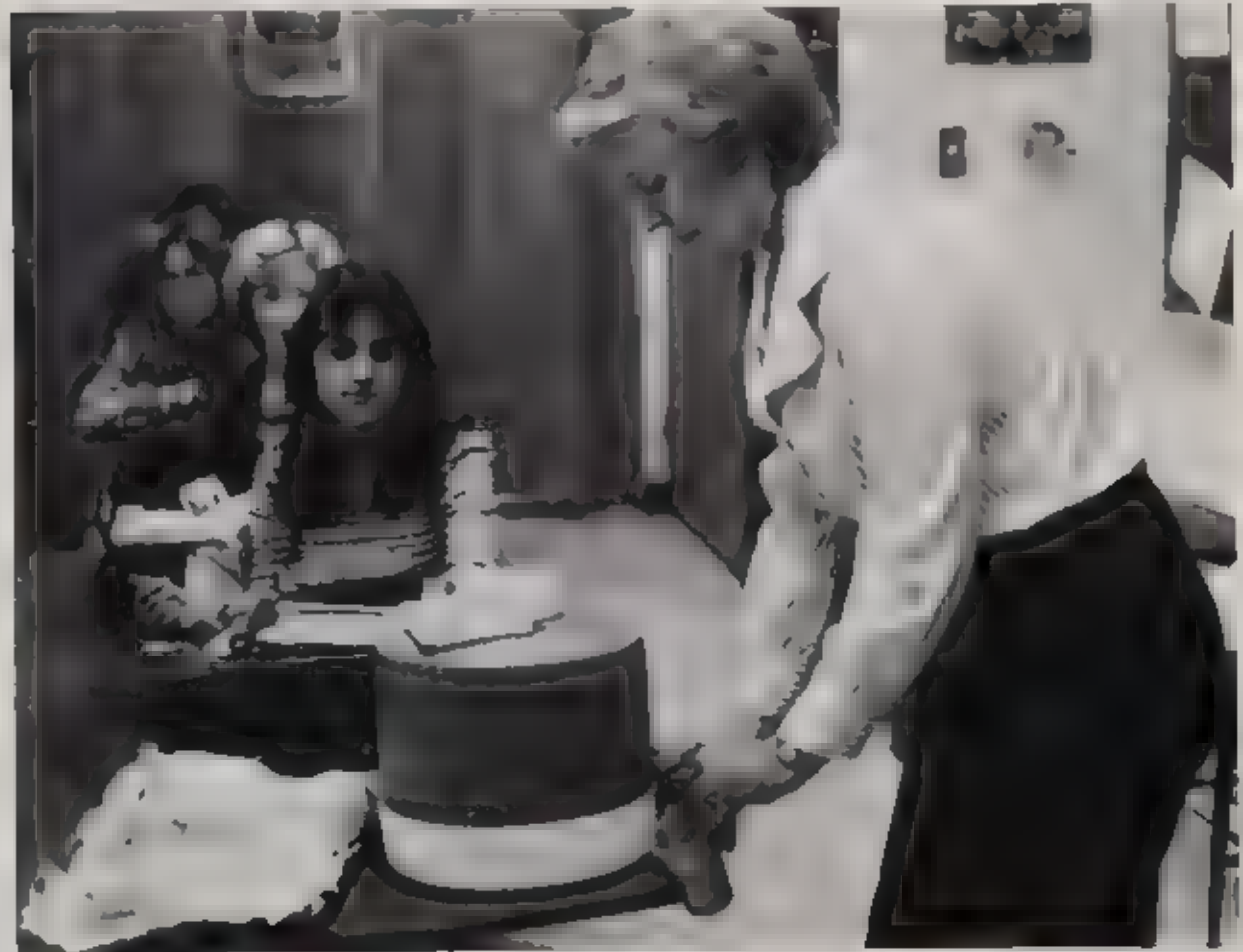

To further the knowledge of foreign cultures is the purpose of the International Club. The 45 members, with Mrs. Geri McCorkindale as their sponsor, did this in a variety of ways. At their annual Christmas party, they learned Christmas customs and traditions of different countries with a food tasting buffet. The highlight of the party was breaking the piñata. A Mexican dinner at Pancho's and a bake sale were some of their other activities. The club also had two guest speakers. Dr. Merle Wachter teaches at the San Antonio extension of the University of Mexico. Dr. Jacqueline Mireux-Smith, who was from France, discussed the various differences between America and France, such as education and tradition. "We were not very active this year, but there is always mañana," said Mrs. McCorkindale.

Publications Staff gains journalistic experience

This year's journalism class had more than its share of responsibilities. The single class of beginning journalists not only had to publish the newspapers, but also complete the yearbook by deadlines set throughout the year. Each of the 22 students had his own "beat" to cover for the newspaper and certain pages to compose for the yearbook. Under the direction of journalism teacher and publications sponsor Mrs. Stella Wiegrefe, students learned how to write different types of stories and headlines, how to lay out newspapers, proportion pictures and most of all, the importance of meeting deadlines. "It's a great class because you get to learn about newspapers and yearbooks and stuff like that," said senior Greg Ulmer. "I liked the parties after we met our deadlines," stated Gavin Rose. Twelve members of the class were selected for membership in Quill and Scroll, the international honorary society for high school journalists. The Interscholastic League Press Conference was the highlight of the year for seven students who went to Austin. They attended sessions with renowned authorities on yearbooks and newspapers.

Science Club offers something for everyone

The Science Club consists of a group of students that are interested in gaining knowledge in different fields of science. Whether it's physics, chemistry, biology or physical science, there's something for everyone. This group, with its 17 members and sponsor, Miss Billie Mims, had one meeting and usually one trip each month. They had speakers lecture on such topics as nuclear energy, acupuncture, hypnosis and telephone systems. The Science Club visited a radiology lab, a telephone center, and NASA space center in Houston. A lot can be learned in the Science Club. President Rally Lopez commented, "The science club helps students become more interested in the world of science. It has helped me decide on my major in college, which is biology."

Thespians capture spotlight with comedy, drama

A Thespian is an actor who is experienced in play production and is an active member of his local troupe. To become a Thespian, one is required to obtain ten theater points. One point is given for every ten hours' work on a production. The points are recorded throughout the year and when ten points are obtained, initiation as a Thespian is reached. For this a member receives a certificate of recognition, a Thespian card, and a subscription to "Dramatics" magazine. After becoming a Thespian there are certain ranks to be obtained. For instance, twenty points earns a star, thirty points earns another star, and a silver bar follows. "Well, I liked travelling to different schools because the competition really makes you realize what acting's all about," says Andrea Kinser, reporter-historian

Young leaders produce large contributions

Under the direction of their new sponsor, Miss Carol Callsen, the Junior High Student Council and the National Junior Honor Society had a good year. # Band finishes year with spring concert tour

In a band, like any organization, there has to be pride, work and dedication from all members to make it work. Trips, football games, and concerts were some of the activities of the A band, which is respected by all students at Randolph High. For many hours students marched in the hot sun or freezing cold to make their performance the very best possible. But all the hard work and aggravation paid off with a rating of "excellent" at UIL marching contest. "Band has been a great experience in my high school years," states drum major Mike Lyon. "There is a lot of work involved, but it's a type of work that I like to do." In the spring the band went on a tour of several places between Universal City and Corpus Christi.

Cheerleaders and cadettes get rowdy with spirit

Tryouts were held once again to bring new faces to the drill team and new cheerleaders to lead school spirit. Both cheerleaders and drill team members attended camp at Texas Lutheran College, learning cheers, chants and dances. Members of the drill team were younger this year than usual, which required a lot of time, patience and practice for president Ann Burns and dance captain Kay Kinsey. Other officers were Robin Trevino, treasurer; Liz Waddle, secretary; and Donna Johnson, drill captain. Two cheerleaders were returners from last year, Karen Bailey and Cheryl Negley. Elected this year were Jill Hall, Lauribeth Figgins and Julie Parrish. Head cheerleader Karen Bailey said, "At first it seemed with three of the cheerleaders being new it would be a little difficult, but everyone had good ideas for the new year."

Season ends with 6-4 record

The Ro-Hawk Varsity volleyball team began the season by losing all but one of their pre-season games. As time progressed, the players improved their skill and attitude with the help and training of their coach, Miss Lynn Collins. As district came around, the 'Hawks took everyone by surprise -including themselves. They upset all of their district opponents except Cole once, Southside once, and Smithson Valley twice. Teams in District 26 AAA defeated by Randolph included Southside, Bandera, Boerne, and Cole. Randolph tied with Cole for third in district with a 6-4 record. "The team had its tolls of ups and downs. We started off sluggish but picked up our pace and had a really successful season," stated Coach Collins.

JV volleyers beat Cole

The girls on the junior varsity volleyball team seemed to improve their abilities during the latter part of the season. The team was made up of mostly freshmen, so lack of experience was their major downfall. The JV girls won a major victory, however, against the rival Cole Cougars. Their dedication and desire to win helped them to capture this victory. "We had very little court experience," explained Miss Gray, "but I was overall pleased with their progress."

Ro-Hawks recapture district crown

The Ro-Hawks won the district championship for the fourteenth time in 20 years by staying undefeated in district play. The Ro-Hawks started out shakily by losing two out of their first three games but then rebounded and went on to win six in a row. Randolph had a few close calls against Boerne and Bandera but pulled them out in the end. The 'Hawks then overcame their arch-rivals the Cole Cougars by defeating them 14-10. This win guaranteed the 'Hawks a playoff spot, but more importantly secured the district championship. In the bi-district game against Sweeny the Ro-Hawks lost a close and hard-fought battle 12-14, and ended their season with a record of 7-3.

Season has highs and lows

The 1982 season was the year of the knee injury for the Ro-Hawks. Three players, seniors Pat Ahmann and Gavin Rose and junior Craig Divich, all suffered knee injuries and were sidelined for most of the season. With the loss of Ahmann, sophomore Benjy Varn stepped in and helped to lead the team to the district championship. Varn was rewarded by being named to the all-district team. Also named all-district were Greg Ulmer and Paul Silvestri. Ulmer and Silvestri received honors for both offense and defense. Other all-district performers were Carlton Saunders and Kenny Kent for offense and Lance Turnbow and Ernie Banks for defense. Shawn Hickenbottom and Derick Terrell received second team honors. Ulmer was named to the San Antonio Light's All-City team for both offense and defense. Silvestri and Saunders were named to the honorable mention team.

JV team goes undefeated

The junior varsity football team, headed by Coach Terry English, put together a winning season this year by going undefeated in nine games. Their opponents averaged only 1.7 points per game, while the JV 'Hawks averaged 24.6 per game. The only two teams to score against them were the Bandera Bulldogs and the Smithson Valley Rangers, each only managing only 8 points. Coach English was very proud of his team. "Judging by the past JV teams I've had, this undefeated team ought to have everything it takes to maintain Ro-Hawk tradition, especially with their winning attitude."

Freshmen learn basics

In their first year of high school football, Coach Don Scott's Ro-Hawk freshman football team finished their year with a record of 2-5-1. According to Coach Scott, "They were a group of determined young men who got better as the season progressed, and will help to build a better varsity team in the future." The freshmen learned the basics of football and also how football is played here at Randolph. This experience will enable them to become better players when they reach the varsity level

The girls' varsity basketball team went undefeated in district, ending their season 17-7. They were ranked number 13 in the city. Van Vleck defeated them in the bi-district championship by a score of 64-42. Even though they were defeated in bi-district, the team was satisfied with their overall performance and accomplishing their goal of winning district. "I was excited and proud because they worked very hard and deserved to win. I wish they had had a little more intensity, but their positive thinking and believing in each other helped them to have a very successful season," commented Coach Donna Lemley. # JV follows through

The girls' junior varsity basketball team ended their season with a record of 3-10. Although they didn't have a very successful season as far as winning goes, they were more successful in other areas. They learned the basics of basketball and sportsmanship in order to help them prepare for a future position on the varsity team. They developed confidence, positive attitudes and competitive spirits, which are far more important than winning. "Although we didn't have an outstanding record, the girls were willing to work hard in practice to learn all they could and that is what counted the most," commented Coach Lynn Collins.

Boys have rough season

The varsity boys' basketball team fell on some hard times this year. Due to the lack of experience and height, the Ro-Hawks lost all 10 of their district games. The young team had many sophomores, including starters Henry Williams, Benjy Varn and Marcus Terrell. The other starters were junior Ricci Ray, and senior captain Greg Ulmer. The rest of the team consisted of senior Ernie Banks, juniors David Bingheim and Lewis Latson, and sophomores Gary Cantu and Danny Lengyel. ## Doubles take district

From a spectator's view, tennis looks like a relaxing, enjoyable, social sport. Well, there's more than meets the eye! Once again, the tennis team worked with inexperience and came through shining. The team didn't just play tennis. They worked on the basics day in and day out. The mechanics of serving, lobbing, net-play, forehand and backhand were perfected by the experienced and learned by the inexperienced. With only two returning girls, Coach Robin Gray commented that the girls' team did fantastic in district play. Junior Cheryl Negley placed third and senior Kelly Day placed fourth in singles at the district meet at Fair Oaks April 4-5. With a stronger boys team, sophomore Benjy Varn and senior Todd Lightner displayed their talents as district champions in doubles play. They advanced to regionals on May 7. Coach Gray stated, "As Benjy Varn once said, It's great to be good!"

It's great to be good!

In Memory of Mr. Harry H. Boggess 1921—1982

Randolph High School lost a good friend and supporter with the death of Mr. Harry H. Boggess. Mr. Boggess, former president of the school board, died Nov. 5, 1982.

He was recommended for the board by the base commander to the commissioner of education in November, 1971, and served until Nov. 3, 1981.

Mr. Boggess received a bachelor of business administration degree from St. Mary's University and worked as a civil service employee. Aside from his school board duties, Mr. Boggess worked at the Chief Training Material and Education Branch, Deputy for Operations, 12th Flying Training Wing, at Randolph AFB.

Even though few of the students knew him personally, Mr. Boggess deserves to be honored for his loyal service to the Randolph school system.

Editor's Message and Colophon

The 1983 Talon staff was a new one, with many lessons to learn and a monumental task ahead of them. Through the determination of the entire class, lots of support from an avid readership and the huge amount of prepping for the job by our advisor, we've achieved yet another volume of the history of Randolph High School.

Though our staff had little-to-no experience with the production processes of a yearbook, they pulled together and strived for excellence on every page of this book. Fortunately we were not aware of the work that was to come or most of us would have walked out. Step by step, though, using all we'd learned and much creative ingenuity, we accomplished something we'll always be proud of. We hope the rest of the student body will appreciate the hours of toil put into the '83 Talon.

No one deserves more thanks and recognition than our advisor, teacher, sponsor, and friend Mrs. Stella Wiegreffe. She conquered a class of students completely ignorant of yearbook production. She organized and controlled every effort made. Mrs. Wiegreffe could turn from teacher to photographer to editor-in-chief to manager and all the while knew enough to leave when it was best, even if I didn't. Her hours and effort put forth are immeasurable.

Giving up his spare time to meet deadlines, Pat O'Connor aided greatly by providing photographic coverage of many school events for the yearbook. We extend our gratitude to him for a job well done.

The administration and faculty, including Superintendent Claude A. Hearn, Principal Earl Hall, office secretaries, teachers and members of the school board, deserve a special thanks for allowing us to record the 1982-83 school year.

We wish to offer the 1983 Talon to the RHS student body who cooperated with us and were the source of our desire to struggle to publish the best.

I challenge the 1984 Talon editor and staff to continue the tradition, take our ideas and expand them, make the next one even better, but, most of all, remember your times — your beginnings.

Members of the 1983 Talon staff were Shari Lemme, editor, Cathy Adams, Pat Ahmann, Karen Bailey, Cyndy Bellion, Kevin Corey, Tom Deangelis, Kaley Fore, Sharon Grendell, Lisa Gutierrez, Jill Hall, Tracie Hardy, Cary Hicks, Rally Lopez, Michelle Maddy, Gavin Rose, Amy Sailer, Michele Springer, Greg Ulmer, and Michael Wingfield. Photographers were Pat O'Connor, Troy Knickerbocker, Marty Waddy, and Kirby Dehnel. Yearbook advisor was Mrs. Stella Wiegreffe.

The 1983 Talon contains 184 pages and is printed on #70 enamel paper. The book is Smyth sewn and square backed. The cover is Midnight Blue #17 with mission grain. It is embossed and metal appliqued with the school mascot. Two hundred and eighty copies were ordered from the printers, Newsfoto Yearbooks in San Angelo.

Body copy is set in 10 point Melior with captions in 8 point Melior. Main headings are 24 point Melior.

Memories are carried into the future

"And remember as we go . . ." The final closing of this book will not end the memories. For the memories will be with us always. To look back and remember our days at Randolph High filled with books, friends, lunches, teachers, pep rallies, holidays and games—they will be the things which remind us of our high school days.

Though this is only a small chapter in the history of Randolph High, it is an important one; one which marks 1983—the events, the people and the atmosphere. This book should spark those memories which are fondest to all of us.
